Operational excellence and safety continue to be a key driver for the oil and gas sector.

Only when organisations decide to build long-term stability and sustainability into their operational strategies and invest into safety culture that focuses on reliability, workforce competence and operational readiness, will they be equipped to weather the downturns and capitalise on upswings in a measured and profitable way.

With these challenges in mind, key players are meeting in London 15-16 January 2019 for Euro Petroleum Consultants' International OpEx & Safety Forum (IOSF).
